

Audio Visual Multimedia Solutions

We frequently supply and set up training or presentation facilities for our clients. These may feature, for example, an interactive whiteboard and a screen with a ceiling-mounted projector. Since many organisations' needs are similar, we have developed a selection of economical off-the-peg solutions, but we also offer a comprehensive custom planning and installation service for clients with more individual or complex needs.

Our objective is always to find the simplest, most efficient and most elegant solution. These projects can include designing and installing the entire room environment. We're very practised at project managing installations in which we take care of absolutely every detail, minimising disruption and handing over a fully finished installation that's ready for immediate use.
